Rocky Has Six Inches of Snow

Rocky Mountain House

Sept. 20. — Snow fell all day Thursday, at least six inches on the level, and farmers who had hoped to start threshing by the end of the week are faced with at least another week's hold up.

As soon as the snow stops and the sun appears they will have to turn their stooks, which is about all they have been doing for the past month. Much of the cut grain is growing in the stooks and this snow will make matters even worse.

Many farmers begin to fear that their crops will not be worth threshing now, and have given up all idea of cutting what is still standing. This standing grain will make feed for cattle in the fields, but that is about its only value.

The Friendly Circle

The Friendly Circle met at the Hotel with Mrs. Bangs as hostess. There were seven members and four visitors. The afternoon was spent in sewing and visiting during which a lovely lunch was served.

Mr Harrington and Ruth left for Lacombe this morning (Thursday).

Nell Proudfoot of Manville, Laurel King of Cereal, and Doris Hittle of Rearville returned to resume their studies at the Chinook School.

Mr McLaren of Oyen was a Chinook visitor on Wednesday.

PAMPHLETS TELL OF A.M.A. DRIVE

Drawing attention to the growing demand in this province for motor revenues such as licenses and gasoline tax to be ear-marked for highway purposes, a new pamphlet has been issued by the Alberta Motor Association.

"Demand Provincial Motor Taxes for road purposes only," says the pamphlet.

"Farmers and motorists, tourist organizations and all Alberta citizens are invited to demand and insist that all provincial and motor license taxes be expended for road purposes only." It also stated that "the tourist industry is very seriously prejudiced by diverting road taxes away from the roads."

People in various parts of the province are invited and urged to take the matter up with their local M.L.A.'s in order to bring greater pressure on the government to effect a change in the present policy.

Motor club officials point out that Alberta motorists have aided the Alberta government and its finances by paying 100 per cent of all provincial expenditures on roads during the past 20 years. This year, to make the situation more startling and to call for action, the motorists are being asked to contribute not only all but more than twice the total expenditures on roads, thus putting extra funds from motorists in the provincial treasury.

The present outcry by the motoring public is not for a reduction in this taxation but for the spending of motor revenues on road purposes.

Red Cross Meeting

The monthly Red Cross meeting will be held at the Chinook Hotel on Thursday evening, Oct. 2nd at 8: p. m. After the long recess a good attendance is requested. Will all those interested in this important work kindly endeavor to be present.

Mrs McAndrews and daughter returned to Calgary on Saturday night.

Mrs. Zawasky was a Kindersley visitor on Saturday.

LAST CALL SEPT. 30

— TO PAY YOUR 1941 —

Income Tax

on the Government Monthly Plan
You must start at once?

Next Tuesday will be the last opportunity to pay your 1941 Income Tax on the Government Monthly Plan. This gives you the privilege of paying in twelve monthly instalments without interest, instead of by lump sum in March, 1942.

Here is how to get the monthly payment privilege! Divide the total of your 1940 Income Tax by twelve. This is your first payment—and must be paid to the Receiver General on or before September 30, 1941. You will then pay the same amount before the end of each month for the balance of 1941. When you have estimated your 1941 income tax at the 1941 rate, you will deduct the four payments you will have already made, and pay the remainder in three equal monthly instalments, starting January, 1942.

The Government offers the above plan as the most reasonable and convenient method of meeting income tax obligations. Ask your local Income Tax Office for Instalment Income Tax Reaffirmance Form—and any further information you may require.

FARMERS URGED NOT TO THRESH DAMP GRAIN

Farmers of Alberta were urged to avoid losses which might be incurred by threshing their grain before it is properly dried, in a statement issued today by J. R. Sweeney, Deputy Minister of Agriculture.

"Reports have reached this Department that, owing to unfavourable weather conditions, grain is sprouting in the stook and in the swath. In many districts, lower grades will result from conditions, and losses will be unavoidable. Alberta farmers are urged to use the greatest care in having grain mature before commencing to thresh.

"If threshing is resumed before the grain is dry, further trouble will be experienced with heated grain in the bins or elevators. Farmers cannot handle heated grain on the farm without sustaining heavy losses and the lack of elevator space this year makes it impossible to handle any large volume of damp grain at country elevators or terminals."

Farmers who are in doubt as to whether their grain is ready to thresh may obtain tests at local elevators to show the moisture content and whether the time is opportune to thresh.

To Ensure Victory

Adjutant General of Canadian Army Stresses Need For More Men
Stressing the gravity of the need for more and more men for the Canadian Army, Major General B. W. Browne, D.S.O., B.C., Adjutant General, in a national broadcast on his return from the United Kingdom held that when the time of battle comes, and he added, it may not be long, our Canadian Corps will weigh heavily in the scales for victory. His visit overseas, he said, impressed on him more deeply than ever the supreme importance of trained manpower. Addressing the men of Canada, and the mothers, wives and sisters and sweethearts of Canada, General Browne said, "Our need is grave. There is only one power on earth that will beat Hitler—manpower. Never let it be said that our men were of the best but our numbers too few."

Referring to the spirit of the people of Britain, he said, "It is a spirit which neither bombs, or discomfort or danger, or the weight of odds against them can dampen or discourage. But there is a limit to human endurance, we must all do our share to see that the breaking point is never reached."

There are no prepositions in the Finnish language.

The Agriculturist's Outlook

Western Canadian farmers, along with the other citizens of the Dominion, have entered upon the third year of their participation in the war against the forces of Nazi aggression and tyranny, with reasonable prospects that their economic condition will see some improvement during the next 12 months.

This outlook for "a definite improvement in prospects for Canadian farmers" in the period following the harvesting of the 1942 grain crops was recently visualized by the federal minister of agriculture when he told the farmers that they could now go ahead "and produce all the hogs, butter, cheese and eggs they can with the assurance of selling them at better prices than have prevailed up to the present."

The prospect of better prices is based upon new agreements with Great Britain to take larger quantities of livestock products, including bacon and eggs and at better prices than were provided for under previously existing arrangements and former conditions. Farmers, of course, have noted that this brighter outlook does not apply to wheat grown and marketed as a bread cereal.

Mr. Gardiner's announcement, however, does appear to chart a course which Western farmers who in past years have almost entirely depended upon wheat, can follow and that is, as far as individual circumstances and local conditions permit, to increase production of those commodities which are urgently required in what amounts to our sole remaining export market, and to reduce production of those commodities, principally wheat, which must necessarily remain frozen until the war is won. Even some of the wheat that is grown can be turned to good advantage, to the extent that it can be fed and converted into saleable foodstuffs to bring a better return to the grower than if sold for marketing as bread grain.

Two Dependent Factors

The degree to which the Western Canadian farmer will actually benefit from this greater demand and higher prices for livestock products, however, actually depends primarily upon two things: the ability to get them to ultimate market in Great Britain and the ratio between the price the farmer receives for them and the prices of the commodities which he has to buy. The former depends upon the ability of the naval forces to maintain control of the ocean highways and the latter upon the efficiency and effectiveness of the Canadian government's efforts to prevent inflation.

The combined naval might of Great Britain and the United States can be depended upon to keep open the traffic lane across the Atlantic. With occasional setbacks, which must always be expected, Allied fortunes on the high seas have shown steady improvement and President Roosevelt's momentous decision to use the American navy to keep "defensive waters" open will be a powerful factor in strengthening security for the movement of foodstuffs and war materials from this hemisphere to Britain's shores.

As for the other factor required to enable the farmer to reap the benefit of improved prices for his commodities, the prevention of inflation, its efficacy will depend upon the co-operation and support which the people of the country are prepared to give the government in its efforts to achieve this objective through price control measures.

The cost of living has gone up since the war broke out. In some degree this was not only to be expected but was unavoidable. However, as the second year of the war drew to its close, there was a strong tendency towards a marked acceleration of price advances and some of it undoubtedly beyond warrant.

Inflation in Practice

The evils of inflation and particularly its dire effect upon agriculture are even now being experienced by the Dutch who, after barely 15 months under the Nazi yoke "have been reduced from a very high standard of living to the brink of starvation," according to Professor P. S. Gerbrandy, President of the Netherlands Council of Ministers.

If there are any in this country who are prepared to condone inflation they should read of the experience of the people of the Netherlands, as reported by Prof. Gerbrandy: "Agriculture," he says, "suffers from severe shortage of labor, fuel and fertilizers; dairy farmers see their best cows slaughtered to feed the occupying army, or exported to the Third Reich. The Germans descended upon the fertile Lowlands like a cloud of locusts; shops have been emptied by the huge purchases made by German soldiers and officials; trainloads of agricultural produce have disappeared into the German maw."

"As a result the national debt is increasing at a rate ten times greater than that reached in the Great War. The treasury is selling astronomical amounts of government paper and there is plenty of paper money in circulation despite huge semi-forced loans. But goods are scarce, prices are rising in spite of attempts at control, and the standard of living has rapidly declined. Almost everything is rationed, but the ration is so small that in some cases laborers feel too weak to continue work after four o'clock in the afternoon."

Sun dials give exactly correct time only on April 15, June 14, September 1 and December 24.

Old Custom Revived

People of London Are Again Enjoying The "Wagon Stage"

In the courtyards of South East London housing estates an old mediaeval custom has been revived. A BBC broadcast described how the old "wagon stage," the forerunner of the modern theatre, can be seen in London to-day. In the Middle Ages the theatre went to the people instead of the people going to the theatre. A wheeled stage or "pageant" went from district to district, halting in squares and market places where the performance was given. Every evening during the summer of 1941 a strolling company—the Bermansley Players—has visited the London housing estates and presented comedies and melodramas for the tenants. The local decontamination squads put up the "stage" . . . a platform with curtains and the minimum of props; the air raid wardens brought the benches out of the shelters for the children to sit on. The audience was gathered at windows and on balconies as well as in the courtyard itself. What an enthralled audience it was—as enthralled as a mediaeval crowd watching the annual mystery play given by the Guild of Tanners or Goldsmiths. For many of them, brought up on the cinema, had never seen living performers before. At the end, a collection of pennies came spinning down from the balconies. When the show was over, the "stage" was packed away on a truck ready to move on to its next evening's destination. These shows really are by the people and for the people, and have been living performers before. At the end, a collection of pennies came spinning down from the balconies. When the show was over, the "stage" was packed away on a truck ready to move on to its next evening's destination. These shows really are by the people and for the people, and have been living performers before. At the end, a collection of pennies came spinning down from the balconies. A Striking Picture

Galician Artist Has Portrayed Defeat Of Axis New Order

Portraying the essential evils of the Axis New Order and prophesying its defeat, a picture painted by a Galician artist is on show in London. It has twice been saved from the Nazis since it was painted in 1937. Brought to England just prior to France's collapse, it was later one of the few paintings saved when the artist's London studio was bombed. The picture shows Hitler, Mussolini, Goering, Goebbels and Striecher at a drunken orgy. Mussolini is whipping a figure, symbolic of freedom, and the others shout their glee. But on the wall, a hand is writing the same words that Daniel translated for Belshazzar, just before the fall of Babylon: "Mene Mene Tekel Uparshin,"—"God has numbered thy kingdom and finished it."

Repairing Buildings

Making Homes Fit To Live In After Bomb Damage

Nine of every 10 repairable homes in Britain have been made fit to live in after bomb damage by a "property first aid" organization. Its work starts in as soon as the skies are cleared of Nazi bombers after every raid. It is under the direction of the ministries of health and of works and buildings.

Contractors throughout Britain have been registered to conduct the first aid repairs and in addition some 5,000 army builders work in mobile gangs in various parts of the country. The result of the work is that in London 95 per cent. of repairable homes now are fit to be re-occupied even though the number of bomb-wrecked houses is twice that of all the rest of Britain. Elsewhere in Britain, 90 per cent. of repairable houses have received the first aid treatment.

The army builders, spread over many areas, can be rushed to any one district which might suffer a concentrated raid. Bombed properties are classed in three categories—demolished, damaged beyond repair and able to be repaired. Materials salvaged from bombed property in the first two categories are used to renew the homes in the third group.

Take On New Job

Women Are Now Effectively Handling Balloon Barrage Over London

This barrage balloon used to be called "Gloria" but now its name is "Romeo."

The reason? It has been taken over by members of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force, the first army women to displace men in control of a balloon. The men always referred to it as "she" but when the women took over they changed it to "he."

Tre Waafs send it up, keep it in the air, haul it down and tether it. They guard it in twos, day and night. There are no men on the site at all. The crew includes Winnie, 18, from Bow, in London's East End, who used to be a dressmaker. Diann, in charge of the crew, Sergeant Selina, a former Peckham shirt machinist, and Corporal Lena, owner of a Liverpool tailoring business, are others in the team.

Most of them have been on air-plant fabric mending and Winnie has patched more than 300 balloons. Hauling a balloon up and down is easier than fabric work, they all say.

A group captain, commander at one big London balloon centre, said "I'm willing to bet the women won't lose more balloons than the men; they may lose fewer."

Youth Training

During the past four years thousands of young men and women in the prairie provinces have had an opportunity to take special courses in agriculture and domestic science through the Dominion-Provincial youth training programme. The programme will again operate this fall and winter, when similar courses will be held at rural centres in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The youth training programme is financed jointly by the Dominion and Provincial Governments. Details of organization and arrangements for instruction are left to the Provincial authorities. Because of this, the procedure varies somewhat from province to province, but the general objective is the same. That is, to provide an opportunity for worthy and needy rural young men and women between the ages of 16 and 30 years to attend courses of the kind mentioned above, in or near their own communities. The first schools of the season generally commence about November 1st. Applications for courses must be sent in by the communities interested. Before the application can be filed, naturally some preliminary organization work must be done so that the authorities can be assured of a certain minimum attendance, and a suitable building in which to conduct the course.

Applications for courses in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta should be sent to, and more complete details of the courses offered and the arrangements which are to be made by the local community may be secured from: Director, Extension Service, Manitoba Department of Agriculture, Winnipeg; Director, Department of Extension, University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon; Director, Department of Extension, University of Alberta, Edmonton.

PROPOSE RESEARCH TO FIND NEW USES FOR FARM PRODUCTS

Ottawa—Organization of a special research organization which will give all its time to an effort to find new uses for farm products or propose substitute production was proposed here July 26 by a delegation which met Agriculture Minister Gardiner, Trade Minister McKinnon and Mines Minister Cramer.

The delegation, representative of the chemurgic committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, was told its representatives would be placed before the Government.

Findings of a survey of possible new uses for farm products were discussed by the delegation. Members said it did not prove any new economic uses of farm products but did suggest possibilities particularly in the utilization of germ oil and alcohol from wheat.

It was suggested that the government erect a test plant in Western Canada for the manufacture of power alcohol from wheat. Australia it was pointed out has just embarked on the erection of plants for the manufacture of 22,000,000 gallons of power alcohol annually which will require 11,000,000 bushels of wheat. Use of power alcohol as a partial substitute for gasoline in Canada would consume from 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat annually. This type of motor fuel is now being manufactured from farm products in 50 different countries.

It was also suggested that crops not grown extensively, such as soy beans might be developed in Canada.

The proposed special research organization would be associated with the National Research Council, or the Agriculture Department Research Bureau, or both. It would be set up by the Government to give all its time to the study and would be provided with funds with which to investigate and even set up experimental plants to try out findings.

The delegation consisted of: D. G. McKenzie, Winnipeg, of the United Grain Growers; Clinton Henderson, Montreal; Dr. D. McFarlane, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que.; Cecil Lamont, Winnipeg, representing the Northwest Line Elevators Association; D. L. Morrell, Montreal, and Russell T. Kelley, Hamilton.

Olds Wheat Down 35 P C

OLDS, Sept. 18.—It is estimated that there will be 35 per cent less wheat in the Olds district this year than last. One million bushels were shipped out of the district last year, while only 650,000 bushels are expected this year.

Part of this decrease can be attributed to the wheat bonus plan and part to the exceptionally dry season.

There was a much larger per centage of coarse grains sown this spring, but because of a lower yield per acre, the total returns will be about the same as last year's.

Threshing in the district has been delayed by rain, and is now just starting. There are nearly 60 combines operating, as compared with nine last year.

NEW C.N.R. PRESIDENT PRAISES EMPLOYEES

"The Canadian National Railways has a loyal and efficient staff of officers and employees, and I am satisfied that, with their assured co-operation, we will be able to handle the ever increasing business of the country expeditiously and efficiently", R. C. Vaughan, newly appointed president of the National System, said in a press interview a few days ago.

"Our net earnings have greatly improved this year, which indicates what can be accomplished when we receive a satisfactory volume of business", Mr. Vaughan continued, and he added: "Every company has a pay point; that is, a definite gross revenue which must be earned to cover fixed expenses, which cannot be avoided no matter how drastic the curtailment, but as gross earnings exceed that pay point, net earnings increase rapidly. The Canadian National Railways is no different from other companies in that respect and no matter how we may slash expenses, we must have sufficient gross earnings to produce satisfactorily net earnings.

"Our lines have been busy moving troops and war supplies of all kinds. Not long ago, it was suggested by some, that certain of our lines be lifted. Much of the mileage which it was suggested should be abandoned has been working to capacity, and it would have been impossible to move the business of the country without it."

Mr. Vaughan said that he greatly appreciated the honor of having been appointed to the office of president and chief executive of the Canadian National Railways, operating a larger mileage than any other railroad on the North American continent, or in the British Empire. He added that he was deeply conscious of the responsibility in these times when so much is required of the railways, and said "It will be our aim to operate these railways, which are owned by people of Canada, as efficiently and as economically as possible."

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A restriction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.
